The DIMMER VIEW

Fun on a Mini-Bus

San Diego Transit, in a Friday press conference aboard one of their new $21,000 Mercedes-made mini-buses, announced three new routes which started earlier this week.

All three will be served by the small 18-passenger buses. Two routes will not accommodate residents of Lemon Grove and Spring Valley directly. The other, route 80, which runs "express" from Grossmont shopping center via State College and Fashion Valley, to Sea World, Mission and Pacific Beaches, will serve obliquely. Local riders will have to get themselves to Grossmont Center to take advantage of the 25-cent transportation bargain. The schedule calls for trips 35 minutes apart from 6 a.m. 'til 9 p.m. and about an hour apart before and after.

The buses are comfortable, but a little noisy. They will answer the very real need for cross-town express service.

Friday's conference started from the Transit firm's new building at 16th and Imperial. This is the new $975,000 home office the transit firm built when a mass transit and federal grant became available several years ago. The luxurious building didn't do much for speeding up mass transportation, but it comfortably housed the growing number of office staff.

That thought occurred after we heard that Transit was paying trainee drivers $375 a week. We checked it out—sort of. The Transit telephone operator did fine. She connected us with the party who she said could give us the information. This lady did, explaining carefully the rate of pay, the length of the course, and the various advantages of being a Transit bus operator. All very cheerful and co-operative. She offered to send application material.

It was then that it dawned on her that she was talking with a newsman. She sounded as though she was going to become hysterical. "No," she squealed, "you can't have than information." Her reasoning appeared to be that she could give the information to any member of the public but not by the way of newspapers. She was finally convinced that this reporter should talk to her superior. After a wait longer than it should take, an angry man came on the line "You trapped her," he charged. I tried to get him to corroborate her information. You can't deal with angry people. The friendly Transit was not so friendly at this point. I wondered why. A wino or a massage parlor employee could get friendly information. A reporter didn't qualify!

I tried again. Public relations means dealing with the public was the reasoning. The reasoning was right. The PR guy, J. Warren Mooers dug out the information. Trainee operators make $180 a week. Senior drivers make $251. He also gave me a lot of other information and wrapped it up by sending me a large packet of material which included a gasoline-station sized map showing bus routes, a run-down of the accomplishments of the transit firm, together with a promise that the Spring Valley-Lemon Grove area routes would be implemented and that these would be of interest to me.

In the packet was also a Certificate of Appreciation for "your voluntary help in our information booths." I had not given any help and that was the reason, I suspect, that the certificate was neither dated nor signed.

My restive nature became manifest last week when I heard from a Lemon Grove shop keeper that the new mini-buses were going to be officially unveiled. It was then that we contacted Transit PR again. It was so. There was a press conference scheduled aboard one of them in two days. I was invited to attend.

There was the nudging thought that the people from whom Transit would draw should be among the first to know about new bus services and I had hoped to suggest that newspapers along the route be invited to share this information with the residents of those areas. On the bus, I thought, would be a good place to offer my helpful suggestions but the more important questions from other reporters took priority.

The only stop on the mini-bus press conference was Fashion Valley, a mere 14-minute ride from the bus headquarters, board was Transit board president Dick Silberman and board member, Mrs. Joyce Beers.

A fire broke out on the center's parking lot and the teevee boys rushed to take pictures. Mrs. Beers was unoccupied. While we were waiting for the fire-activated reporters to return, I started to tell her of an idea that was given by a friend. The idea that would popularize bus riding at low cost. It consisted of a door-to-door man who would explain to the housewife the bus-riding savings compared to the family auto. With these facts firmly established he would give her a book of bus tickets. Since the man would hit each community for a single day about two weeks apart, buses would never be over-crowded with free riders. Color-coded tickets would tell how many were being converted. Mrs. Beers interrupted to say that any ideas should be given to the PR department. "No," I insisted, "you're a woman and you can understand this program which is designed for housepersons. You're a director. You tell him!"

She fixed her gaze on an object atop a hill to the north; her eyes appeared to glaze. When I glanced to see what she might have been looking at, she strolled away to talk to one of the Transit firm employees.

In the bus waiting for the return trip, the PR man announced that he would return by other means later. I didn't see him again. Reporters discussed where it would be safest to be sitting in case of a major crash. A San Diego Union reporter told of a friend who insisted on sitting in the back because of the imagined safety factor. Jim Gordon, Channel 8's highly capable black reporter who lives in nearby Paradise Hills, said that in his youth he often sat in the back of the bus and crash protection had nothing to do with it.

A little fun mixed with the business of news. The bus was due back at Transit headquarters at 11 a.m. It was on time.

Zip Code (Sometimes) Helpful

A letter postmarked in San Diego on Tuesday, August 13 arrived at the Lemon Grove Post Office on Saturday, August 17.

In the letter, addressed to us, were tickets to a function held on Friday night, August 16. As everyone knows, day late tickets are about as useful as a milkmaid to a bull.

An acquaintance overheard our complaint and told of a check he had recently mailed to his landlord in San Diego. After two weeks it returned to him marked "undeliverable." Lucky he had an understanding landlord. The letter had been properly addressed with the recipient's name and street number. But the city had been written "S.D." together with the zip.

The letter was sent to South Dakota by postal handlers.

Craven's Bill To Modify NOx Controls Introduced

Assemblyman William Craven has introduced legislation which would eliminate the requirement that 1966-1970 model cars be equipped with nitrogen-oxide (NOx) control devices.

The bill will require only those vehicles operating within the South Coast Air Basin, an area which includes Los Angeles, Ventura, Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties to have the NOx devices.

"The San Diego area does not have an air pollution problem of sufficient proportions to warrant the great cost of implementing the NOx program," said Assemblyman Craven. The San Diego legislator noted, "The bill will retain the NOx device requirement in those urban areas of the State where air pollution reaches critical levels. At the same time, it would free residents of rural and other relatively smog-free areas from the expense of installing the devices."

Craven said NOx control programs will cost State residents an estimated $114 million. "That figure represents an average expenditure of $30 per device. With the current pressures to drive that cost as high as $65, I hardly think we can expect financially pressed Californians to bear this unnecessary expense." Craven concluded his remarks by observing, "Probably the major fault of the existing requirement is that most of the affected autos will not even be on the road in two years. In short, we are asking families to incur a substantial expense for a device of short-term benefit."

"And, considering the five to ten percent reduction in gasoline mileage caused by these devices, I really cannot justify the imposition of the NOx requirement on the basis of a program which would include San Diego County."

Trespassers Suffer Citizen's Arrest

Three males, 18, 18, and 26, were placed under citizen's arrest Thursday after they allegedly climbed a rear fence at Carman Ranch Club, 2515 Sweetwater rd., Spring Valley.

The manager of the club, Louise Gobi, said that some men, about the same age, had trespassed onto the property earlier in the week. When the three who were arrested entered the property and "smart-talked" her, she placed them under arrest and called the Sheriff's office. She said she believed them to be college students.

They were cited by the responding officer.

Mischief Reported

Damage estimated at about $300 was done to the home of Wallace Newell Dobb, at 1609 Fairfax, Lemon Grove, while he was away from home several days last week.

The damage included paint being poured in his pool; eggs broken against the windows of his home, and plants being pulled up.

Armed Robbers Take $440

Two armed robbers made off with $440 Friday night from the Silver Keg Bar, at 8729 Broadway, near Campo, after they entered a rear door soon after midnight. They forced the owner and patrons to lie on the floor while they transacted their business.

The owner, Jesse Bishop, said the robbers were black adults each wearing a knit cap pulled over his face. After taking the contents of the wallets of two patrons, and emptying the cash drawer, they forced Mrs. Bishop to open the safe in the back room.

They also pulled a telephone from the wall. They did not damage a pay phone and the owner used this to notify the police.

A piece of plastic from the handle of one of the guns and other clues were listed by Sheriff's deputies.

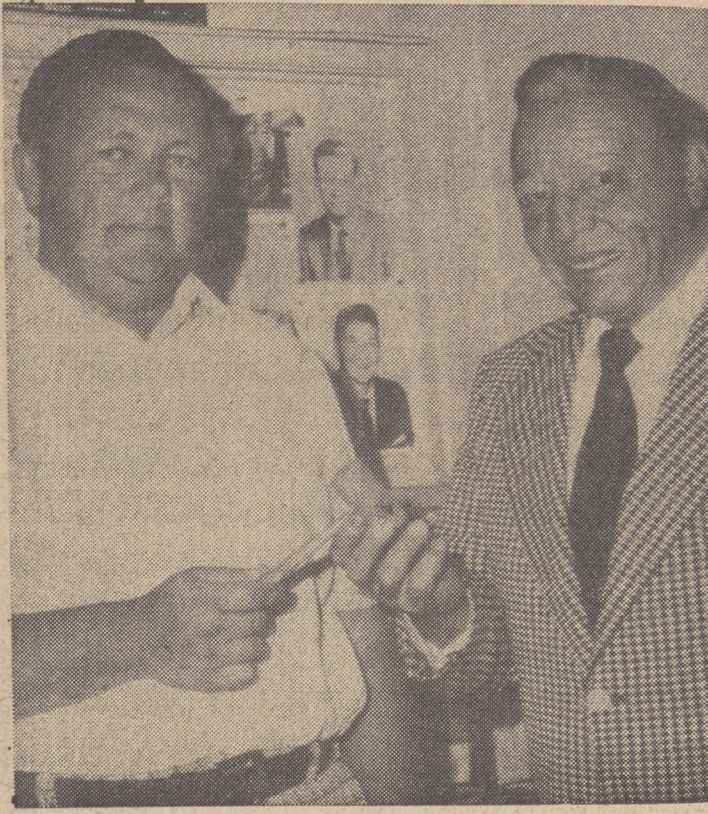

SV Painter's License Lost

The State Department of Consumer Affairs has announced a disciplinary action by the Contractors' State License Board. The construction license of the Sullivan Painting Co., 8853 Greenridge ave., Spring Valley, has been suspended indefinitely, effective July 31, for avoiding or settling lawful obligations for less than the full amount, while acting as a contractor.

bank clerk had identifying information she had gotten from their ID cards. She had also taken the trouble to copy the license number of the car they were in.

The Sheriff's Department had no trouble tracking them down. The pneumatic tube, valued at $75 had not been recovered at the time the Sheriff's report was made. The report did not indicate at the time what action the bank intended to take.

Since no charge had been made, suspects' names and addresses are being withheld.

PARKS ELECTION — The Spring Valley Parks and Recreation Advisory Board changed leadership recently as President Elect, Mr. Herbert R. Ketell, (R) accepts the gavel from Mr. Richard Olsen, retired President. Olsen completed his two-year term however, and will continue to serve on the Advisory Board. Mr. Ketell has been Park Chairman since 1970.

Rotary Sponsors Brazil Study

The 39 Rotary clubs in San Diego, Imperial, and Riverside counties are receiving applications from young, non-Rotarian, business and professional men to form a five-man study team going to Brazil next March under a Rotary International Foundation program designed to improve world understanding.

J. Lawrence Hass, of Brawley, governor of Rotary District 534, announced that the leader of the team will be Fallbrook Rotarian William Gene Norman, 41.

Norman traveled throughout South America from 1957-64 as operations manager for the International Basic Economy Corporation's Supermarket Division.

The five-man study team from Southern California will be repaying a visit to this region earlier this year by a similar group from Porto Alegre, here under the Rotary Foundation's Group Study Exchange (GSE) program.

Young single or married men between 25 and 35 who are not Rotarians and who are interested in the forthcoming five-weeks' visit in Brazil may obtain application blanks from their nearest Rotary club, or from Dist. Gov. Hass; Donald C. Stockdale, Coronado, district GSE chairman; or D. Robert Thomas Pacific Beach Rotarian who heads the District 534 Rotary Foundation committee. All transportation and living expenses are paid.

Thomas said October 1 is the deadline for receiving applications.

Richardson, speaking to a combined luncheon of three Republican Women's Federated groups, noted that a recent CSEA poll showed Cranston with 53.9% to Richardson's 16.8%. However, following Richardson's speech to the CSEA convention, over four hundred delegates were sampled, and Richardson's standing had vaulted to 46.6%, while Cranston's plummeted to 32.2%.

"Clearly, the turnout in the sentiment of those polled showed that exposure to the candidates and their positions on the issues will decide this election," Richardson said. "I expect to be campaigning heavily around the State in September and October. As voters throughout California become acquainted with my candidacy, Senator Cranston's lead will evaporate."

The CSEA poll also showed that undecided voters were 30 percent in the first poll, and only 13 percent following Richardson's speech to the convention.

Mrs. Hutchinson, 47, was found in violation to the conditions of her probation which she was placed on following a guilty plea and a no-contest plea in a 1971 criminal income tax case.

One of the conditions of her probation was that she not prepare income tax returns unless under the guidance of an Attorney, Certified Public Accountant or Public Accountant.

In revoking Mrs. Hutchinson's probation, Judge Enright said he found that Mrs. Hutchinson violated the terms and specific terms of her probation and that her testimony was not credible.

Mrs. Hutchinson can receive a prison sentence for as long as eight years.

The Chamber's number is 466-5736 and is manned 10-11 p.m. but there is an answering service operating at all hours.

L.G. Suspect Nabbed In 'Mad Bomber' Case

A person listed in police reports as "The Mad Bomber of Lemon Grove," was arrested by Sheriff's deputies early Tuesday.

He is suspected of being the person who has been setting off "bombs" in the Lemon Grove business section for the past month and a half. The explosives were set off in the one-block long alley north of Broadway between Imperial and Grove streets.

Arraigned in El Cajon Municipal Court Tuesday and held under $3,000 bail on a charge of possessing an explosive device was Alfred Paul Dechaine, 45, a molasses firm employee who lives at 1954 El Prado, Lemon Grove.

In recent days residents and business firm operators have complained of booming explosion noises. They occurred both day and night. Complaints came from residents more than a block away.

Building occupants in the alley have reported shattered windows and a trailer park resident at North and Olive said an explosion shook his trailer and frightened his wife who has a heart problem.

A welding firm, in the alley, said that several of their employees suffered welding burns when explosions caused employees to jump.

Police suspected that giant firecrackers set off by youths were to blame.

Follow-Up Finds Bomb

Deputy R. Hood, on a follow-up investigation, learned that a certain pickup truck was in the immediate vicinity of the blasts each time.

Monday night Hood found a gas-filled balloon taped to the wall of the building in the rear of the Foxy Lady saloon, 7828 Broadway.

A note attached to the balloon read: "We know who you are... so stop it!" It was signed "The Mad Bomber of Lemon Grove." Another read: "I'll stop if you stop."

The balloon had a burning cigarette taped to it which would cause the balloon to explode when the cigarette burned.

15-Year Old Thief Takes Car Stereo

When a sheriff's deputy observed a 15-year old teenager strolling along Walbollen st. in Spring Valley at 2 a.m. Saturday, he knew an investigation was in order.

The youngster ducked into the brush momentarily and emerged empty-handed when Deputy David Pugh flashed his spotlight on him.

In the brush the officer found an auto stereo tape deck with wires dangling from it. The youngster was taken to the Sheriff's Lemon Grove office to await the arrival of his parents.

Meanwhile, another deputy was dispatched to the area where the youth was found to perform an early-morning auto check.

At 1539 Tarleton, Spring Valley, the officer found an auto with a void in the dash where a tape deck had once been. He knocked on the door.

That's how Robert D. Williams, owner of the auto, learned that his car's stereo had been missing—for a while, if necessary.

Injures 6 Others Spring Valley Crash Claims One

Miss Jane Francis Hatfield, 18, a Spring Valley woman, died Sunday as the result of a five-car crash that injured six others.

Miss Hatfield of 8614 1/2 Troy st., Spring Valley, died at 5 p.m. of apparent head injuries at Paradise Valley Hospital where Cunningham was listed in guarded condition, according to a hospital spokesman.

Miss Hatfield was traveling southbound when the northbound Cunningham vehicle was hit in the rear end and crossed over the divider colliding with 3 autos.

Burglars Busy In Local Area

Robert Lee Makin, of 8709 Idica in Spring Valley, reported that someone crept into his home and stole a channel 100 tuner from his teevee set gaining entry through a sliding glass door.

The device, valued at $42, was taken while he was in another part of the house.

$850 Loss Reported

Stereo equipment valued at $850 was taken from the home of John Patrick Kehrl of 8730 Tyler st., Spring Valley. The equipment consisted of a $250 stereo deck and the other $600 tuner. The loss occurred when the owner was absent.

Money Missing

When John A. Long of 624 Paraiso st. in Spring Valley returned home Friday he discovered a screen had been pried from a window and $580 in $20 bills he left in his wallet had been taken.

Equipment Taken

Susan Elizabeth Earman of 2067 Noble st., Lemon Grove, parked her auto in her driveway leaving it filled with television and stereo equipment which she said belonged to a friend. Several hours later when she checked the car, it was empty. The loss, she said, would be $665 and was not insured.

Spring Valley Bobbysoxers Lose Vital Game

Spring Valley Bobbysox All-Stars went down to defeat by a 10-8 score Tuesday night at the national Bobbysox baseball tournament at Buena Park.

The local team was defeated by Clairemont who recovered from a 7-2 deficit in the come-from-behind game, but all is not lost. A game scheduled for Wednesday may permit Spring Valley to take another swing at Clairemont tonight when the two losers battle for the right to play the leader.

However, if Spring Valley drops the Wednesday game where a tape deck had once been. He knocked on the door.

The winner will face Clairemont at 6 p.m. tonight with a second game to be scheduled if necessary.

Santa Rosa Man Chosen as State Rehabilitant for '74

Both blind and deaf but with a keen sense of touch, Richard D. Joy, Jr., 33, of Santa Rosa has been named by a special committee as the California Rehabilitant of the Year of 1974, it was announced today by State Director of Rehabilitation Alan C. Nelson.

Nelson said, "Mr. Joy's rehabilitation is an extraordinary story. When he was three years old meningitis destroyed his hearing and sight. Through sheer determination he has overcome monumental handicaps to succeed in becoming self-sufficient and to enjoy hobbies and leisure pursuits not normally related to one both blind and deaf."

An employee of the Hewlett-Packard Microwave Division of in Santa Rosa, Joy is an electronics assembler. He solders electronic parts, assembles components and operates an engraving machine.

Joy was selected for the award from among 15,505 handicapped Californians who had been rehabilitated into work by the State Department of Rehabilitation during the past fiscal year. He was judged the most deserving of recognition based on his own efforts toward rehabilitation with the counseling of the department's vocational rehabilitation staff.

Two years ago the department sponsored Joy's training in electronics at the New York Institute for the Education of the Blind.

Finest City Week Features Art, Music

San Diegans will be able to enjoy a evening of concert music and spectacular fireworks as acclaimed conductor Andre Kostelanetz and the San Diego Symphony Orchestra present their third annual tribute to America's Finest City Week, Friday, August 23 at 8 p.m. at San Diego State University Aztec Bowl.

Tickets will be on sale the evening of the concert. All tickets are general admission: Adults, $2; children under 12, $1.

Art Exhibits

Also coinciding with the America's Finest City celebration, the San Diego Art Institute and Gallery will present its twenty-first annual Art Exhibition to the public throughout the month of August.

All 720 entries on exhibit are original paintings; featuring oil, watercolor, sculpture, graphic, and other media. The exhibits, which have never been shown before in any juried show, were judged on August 2nd by a jury consisting of three nationally-known art authorities.

JOUST BETWEEN FRIENDS — Visitors to San Diego's Balboa Park can witness the rebirth of medieval chivalry . . . not as it was, but as it is wished to have been. Every first and third Sunday of the month colorful tents bloom, banners are unfurled, armor-clad knights take to the field of honor, and ladies make their way in flowing velvet gowns, Grecian togas . . . and sunglasses. The exercise in fantasy is provided by The Society for Creative Anachronism. Jousting is also featured.

Disease Information Provided by Cancer Society Booklet

Every day in the United States, 170 women are told by their doctors that they cancer of the breast, an affliction which kills more American women each year than any other form of cancer.

Although extensive immunological investigations and normal research are now attempting to find ways to prevent and detect breast cancer, every woman's best hope in combating this disease is an understanding of the methods used to diagnose and treat cancer of the breast in its earliest stages.

As a public service, Blue Cross of Southern California, in cooperation with the American Cancer Society, has recently made available free to the community an instructive new booklet on the detection and treatment of breast cancer. Entitled "Why Me?", it is designed to explain, in laymen's language, what breast cancer is; how it can be detected, and treated. With illustrations, "Why Me?" explains the importance of self examination . . . and that 95 percent of all cancerous cysts in the breast are discovered by women themselves.

Grove Pair Hit 'Golden Day' — Still Together

Mr. and Mrs. George Seward, of 7002 Mt. Vernon St., Lemon Grove have celebrated their 50th Wedding Anniversary at a reception given at their residence earlier this month. The Searwards have been residents of San Diego area for 34 years. They were married in Kansas City, Mo. Dec. 16, 1924.

They have eight children and twenty-two grandchildren, several of whom reside in the Lemon Grove area.

Both Searwards have been employed by Convair.

Free copies of "Why Me?" are now available by writing your nearest Blue Cross of Southern California district office, 4121 Camino Del Rio South, San Diego, California 92108.

The Blue Cross Plan reports that every day in the United States, 85 women die of breast cancer. That's 33,000 women this year alone. Every woman's best hope in combating this disease is an understanding of breast cancer's warning signs, and the benefit of early diagnosis.

Cuyamaca Music Program Set

For the 18th season the Cuyamaca Summer Music camp, for both Junior and Senior High students is now underway.

The junior high session continues through the 25th followed by the Senior High program on the 25th and continuing through Aug. 31.

The staff is comprised of credentialed teachers and advanced college music students. The student teacher ratio is approximately 4:1.

The camp, located in the Cleveland National Forest is open to all junior and senior high students interested in music.

The diverse curriculum includes band, orchestra, ensembles, lectures and recitals, in addition to an extensive recreation program for off-practice hours.

For further information interested persons may call the camp secretary, at 463-8844.

Moonlight Ride Covers 20 Miles

Bicycle riders are invited to participate in a Moonlight Ramble on Sunday morning, August 25th. This 2 a.m.-6 a.m. 20-mile ride will give all bicycle riders a chance to enjoy San Diego during "America's Finest City Week" without traffic worries.

Registration will take place between midnight and 2 a.m. at the Charles C. Dail Courthouse, 2nd & B st. in downtown San Diego. Breakfast will be served at the completion of the ride. A $1 donation will be collected at the time of registration to defray breakfast costs.

A commemorative shoulder patch will be available for those who wish it and a certificate of participation will be given to all who ride.

This event is sponsored by the San Diego Council, American Youth Hostels, Inc., a non-profit organization to promote activities that you would do "under your own steam."

Additional information may be had by calling AYH-239-2644.

Guest Sermon Set

A guest sermon will be delivered at the Foothills United Methodist Church by the Reverend Hilka Green on August 25. The Sunday soloist will be Dolores Stevens.

A 9 a.m. worship is scheduled.

Grants, Fellowships Awarded for County Heart Research

Ten grants-in-aid totaling over $151,000 and five fellowships totaling over $78,000 for local cardiovascular research during 1974-75 were announced recently by James R. Costello, president of the San Diego County Heart Association.

"If we add to those figures the funding of three local ongoing, established research projects totaling over $54,000 and our local student research grants totaling $6,000, we will see that once again more than 200,000 in Heart Fund dollars have been allocated to San Diego County," Costello said. An estimated $16.5 million will be spent for heart research by national, state and local Heart Associations during the fiscal year which began July 1.

"Since San Diego is a nationally known and respected research center," Costello said, "we receive Heart Fund dollars from other Heart Association affiliates throughout the state who are also committed to the support of research projects but, unlike us, are not blessed with having local research facilities."

"Because of this enviable position, AHA supports more Heart research in San Diego than they do in many other areas throughout the country. Putting it another way, for every dollar San Diegans contribute to the Heart Fund, they get back about a dollar and a half in Heart research," Costello said.

Muscular Distrophy

Telethon To Aid

San Diego's Pete Wilson is chairman of the Muscular Dystrophy Labor Day Telethon scheduled in San Diego and across the nation September 1-2.

Jerry Lewis, national chairman of the Voluntary Health Agency, will host the 20-hour network program broadcast live from Las Vegas. It will be viewed locally on TV 10 beginning at 7:30 p.m. September 1 and concluding on Labor Day at 3:30 p.m.

More than $200,000 in pledges and donations were made last year in San Diego. The nation-wide total was just under $14 million.

Mayor Wilson, for the second year, will enlist the aid of professional and civic leaders in enrolling volunteers for the telethon—the funds from which will benefit the San Diego Chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Assn.

All San Diego telethon activity will emanate from the Convention Center, Royal Inn at the Wharf, Harold Greene, TV 10 personality, will be host, assisted by celebrities and dignitaries.

It is said that 80 percent of each dollar donated benefits S. D. County's nearly 300 dystrophic victims and local research programs at Salk Institute and U.C.S.D.

Family Conference Set for Vista La Mesa

The Disciple Family Fellowship Summer Conference of the Vista La Mesa Christian Church has been set for August 24-26 at Camp Seely, near Crestline.

The theme for this Family-centered Fellowship is "Christian Vision."

How to Tell Indian Jewelry from Indian Style Jewelry

by Sue Di Maio
Nowadays it's hard to tell if a ring that is being sold as a Zuni original was made on a reservation in New Mexico or in a factory in Taiwan.

To the novice the difference may be virtually unnoticeable, except if you end up paying for authentic Indian workmanship and wind up with machine-made imitations, you are being taken. The difference in real value between a piece of Indian style jewelry and the real thing can be as much as 300 percent.

Here are a few tips that may prove helpful in telling imitation Indian jewelry from the genuine article.

— Look carefully at the workmanship. Those making Indian style pieces take many shortcuts. There is a tendency in machine-made pieces to have the twists in the rings, bracelets and necklaces done by machine rather than hand.

— If the twists look too perfect you may be wary about the piece's authenticity.

— If you see a number of

Violinist Holds String Workshop

Violinist Eudice Shapiro will lecture and demonstrate August 29 and 30 at a String Workshop sponsored by the San Diego Youth Symphony.

Miss Shapiro, head of the Violin Department, University of Southern California, will conduct the clinic from 1:30 to 3 p.m. both days at the Casa Del Prado Theater, Balboa Park. The workshops are free and open to all interested persons. Reservations are not required.

In addition to conducting the workshop, Miss Shapiro will perform the Mendelssohn "E Minor Violin Concerto" with the San Diego Youth Symphony, under the direction of Louis J. Camiglia, at 8 p.m. Saturday, August 31 in the Civic Theater.

Tickets are available at the Civic Theater and all Metro Agencies, as well as through the San Diego Youth Symphony. Prices start at $2.

pieces that look identical, beware. One hallmark of authentic Indian jewelry is its originality and individuality. A lot of pieces all looking the same generally means they were turned out on a production line.

— Rub your fingers over the turquoise stones. Low grade turquoise isn't hard and glassy. It won't take a beautiful polish and it doesn't have the vitality and unique markings that distinguish good turquoise. You are likely to find cheap turquoise in imitation Indian jewelry, since high grade stones are too expensive.

— Beware of big bargains. There is a scarcity of good turquoise and good Indian craftsman so the price of authentic Indian jewelry is going up, not down. Anytime you see a piece well below normal market value, the chances are the piece is a fake.

— Look out for the "sterling" imprint. Traditionally, Indians do not mark their silver with the word "sterling."

El Cajon Psychiatrist Stresses 'Fulfillment'

Dr. Bloomfield — physician psychiatrist and author — and now Clinical Director of Psychiatry at El Cajon Valley Hospital — has accepted the invitation to speak at the Community Concourse August 27 at 7:30 p.m. in the Silver Room. The lecture is entitled, "The Technology for Fulfillment".

In this lecture Dr. Bloomfield will present a survey on the techniques for the overall improvement of the quality of life for the individual and for the community of San Diego.

Specific areas will include the use of science and technology for overcoming the effects of stress and tension, and for unfolding the full potential of every individual, according to Tony Marasco, lecture coordinator.

Dr. Bloomfield graduated from the University of Pittsburgh with a Bachelor of Science Cum Laude, received his M.D. from the Downstate Medical Center, New York, graduating with honors rotating internship at Kaiser Foundations Hospital, San Francisco and completed his psychiatric training at the Yale University School of Medicine.

San Diego Realtors

Hear Wilson Report at County Meet

San Diego Mayor Pete Wilson will address the San Diego Board of Realtors Annual Meeting of Members, Wednesday, Sept. 4. The Annual Meeting, being held in the California Room of the Town and Country Convention Center, begins at noon.

Mayor Wilson, completing the third year of a four year term of office, will give Board members an up-to-date report on the progress of his administration and a look into the future of San Diego.

The Mayor will discuss growth strategies and report on major city projects such as the South Broadway Redevelopment Project.

The Board's Annual Meeting of Members not only includes the traditional luncheon with a guest speaker, but is the time when officers and directors for the following year are elected and when proposed Bylaw changes are placed on the ballot for a membership vote.

The cost of the luncheon is $4.50. Reservation information for members is available at 291-3714.

This Week's RECIPE

August is National Sandwich Month; a time to honor our nation's snack and mealtime favorite — the sandwich. And a time to honor one of the great sandwich lovers — the man of the house. He's the inspiration for those imaginative layered concoctions ranging from a simple ham 'n' cheese to triple decker Dagwoods.

And it's the working man who carries these off to the job site. When that noon whistle blows, he's one famished soul who expects to find a hearty lunch at his fingertips. Hopefully, his wife has packed a delicious as well as nutritious lunch, one that will carry him through the afternoon. If she starts with this he-man soup 'n' sandwich combination, and adds an orange and cookies, she can rest assured that her man won't go hungry.

Hearty Green 'N' Gold Soup

1 can (10 3/4 ounces) Condensed Golden Mushroom Soup
1 can (11 1/2 ounces) Condensed Green Pea Soup
In saucepan, stir soups until smooth; gradually add water and seasoning. Heat; stir occasionally. Makes about 5 cups.

Lunchbox Liverwurst Sandwiches

1/4 pound Liverwurst
1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese, softened
1/4 cup chopped peanuts
1 tablespoon ketchup
6 slices pumpernickel bread
1 tablespoon pickle relish
1/4 teaspoon onion powder
1 tomato, sliced
lettuce
In bowl, blend liverwurst and cream cheese until smooth. Add peanuts, ketchup, relish, and onion powder. Spread on 3 slices bread. Top with tomato, lettuce, and remaining bread. Makes 3 sandwiches.

Lawyers Establish

'S.D. Inn of Court'

A College of Advocacy to be known as "The San Diego Inn of Court" has been established by the San Diego County Bar Association, it was announced by its president, John H. Barrett.

The program is designed to improve techniques of trial lawyers.

It will begin in October under the direction of Superior Court Judge Louis M. Welsh.

Welsh said, "This is San Diego's answer to Chief Justice Burger's call for Bar Associations to participate actively in training young lawyers in the skills of advocacy."

Barrett said the name had its origin in the British Inns of Court in London, where for centuries barristers have been trained in the art of their profession and where they have enjoyed the comradeship of their colleagues and of members of the bench.

The course will cover a six-week span, Tuesday and Thursday evenings 6:30-8:30 p.m. at U.S.D. School of Law and Saturday mornings 9-12 at the County Courthouse. It will be taught by San Diego's most able trial lawyers, civil and criminal. Training in basic skills such as Direct and Cross Examination of jurors, opening statements and closing arguments will be offered.

Service Notes

Daniel Windus

Navy Hospitalman Daniel A. Windus, husband of the former Miss Nancy M. Rotsart of 7426 Central ave., Lemon Grove, returned to his home-land of San Diego from a seven and one-half month deployment aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Kitty Hawk. He and his shipmates participated in exercises with units of the Seventh Fleet in the Western Pacific and Indian Ocean. During the cruise, Windus visited Manila, R.P., Singapore, Hong Kong and Mombasa, Kenya.

Donald P. Burgio

Donald P. Burgio, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson P. Burgio, 708 Carlsbad st., Spring Valley, was awarded a Letter of Commendation while serving with the 94th Field Artillery in Germany.

He received the award as a result of being selected runner-up in the Berlin Brigade Soldier of the Month competition.

He is a clerk in Battery C of the Field Artillery.

His wife, Debbie, is with him in Germany.

Robert McCleary

Robert L. McCleary from Lemon Grove became a member of the Air Force last week, according to SSgt. Billy Lakes, local Air Force recruiting representative.

McCleary is one of several young men from Lemon Grove to enter the Air Force this year. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob McCleary 2019 Fairhaven st.

Following a brief six-week military training course at Lackland AFB, Tex., McCleary will enter training for a specific skill. His training at Lackland AFB will encompass courses in professional training for his Air Force career. McCleary is a 1974 graduate of Mt. Miguel High School.

Carl J. Burns

Carl J. Burns, son of John E. Burns of 8813 Innsdale ave., Spring Valley, has been sworn in as a cadet at the U.S. Coast Guard Academy, New London, Conn. Following rigorous physical and military training, and a brief training cruise, he will begin the academic year, with studies including nautical science, physics and calculus.

The four-year Academy curriculum leads to a bachelor of science degree and a commission as ensign in the Coast Guard.

Burns is a graduate of Mt. Miguel High School.

James Dayhoff

Coast Guard Seaman Apprentice James A. Dayhoff, husband of the former Miss Sindi J. Cooper of 3253 Harris st., Lemon Grove, has embarked on an Alaskan fisheries patrol aboard the Coast Guard Cutter Midgett, homeported at San Francisco. As a crewmember, he will support the enforcement of U. S. Fisheries Treaties, zone restrictions and marine law.

Dayhoff will also participate in training exercises aboard the vessel, and is scheduled to visit several Alaskan islands while deployed.

A 1971 graduate of Helix High School, La Mesa, he joined the Coast Guard in February 1973.

Michael Benson

Army PFC Michael W. Benson, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Benson, 703 Thayer dr., Spring Valley, received a Parachutist Badge upon completion of the three-week airborne course at the U. S. Army Infantry School, Ft. Benning, Ga.

During the first week of training, he underwent a rigorous physical training program and received instruction in the theory of parachuting. The second week tested his ability through jumps from the 34-foot and 250-foot towers. The final week he was required to perform five static line parachute jumps.

Senior Tax-Aid Deadline Nears

Martin Huff, Executive Officer of the Franchise Tax Board, reminds all homeowners 62 years of age and over that the August 31 deadline for filing 1974 property tax assistance claims is rapidly approaching.

More than 248,000 claims have been received since the filing season began May 16, Huff said. Senior citizens who have already filed claims for this year need not refile another claim.

Approximately $61 million in assistance payments were made in 1973 on 302,500 claims. The law provides for reimbursement of up to 96 percent of property taxes paid, depending upon the income of the individual.

To be eligible for property tax assistance, claimants must be 62 years of age or older as of January 1, 1974, own and reside in their home, have paid taxes for the current year and have income of $10,000 or less.

Requests for information and claim forms may be made to any Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance branch office or to Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance, P. O. Box 1588, Sacramento, CA 95807.

Younger, Duffy Head State Ballot Drive To Lock-Up Offenders

State Attorney General Younger and San Diego county Sheriff John Duffy are actively seeking local support for a "No Probation" measure in order to qualify it for the November ballot.

Younger and Duffy, co-chairmen of the drive reported that 170,000 signatures have already been obtained — which is more than half of the goal of approximately 325,000 needed.

"It's absolutely vital that this measure qualify for the ballot because if it meets with voter approval heroin peddlers, persons committing a violent crime and using a firearm, an ex-convict armed with a firearm or a professional burglar will know they will no longer be placed on probation. Rather they will go to prison," the pair added. "That's the essential part of this measure," said Younger, the State's chief law officer, and Duffy, president of the California Peace Officers Association.

They indicated widespread support for the measure from citizens as well as the CPOA, California State Sheriffs Association, California Chiefs of Police Association, the law and legislation committee of the California District Attorneys Association and other groups.

Mrs. Nancy Reagan is serving as honorary State chairman of the drive.

Petitions must be filed by county chairmen so that they reach the secretary of state's office no later than September 6, so its important to obtain signatures now, remarked Younger and Duffy.

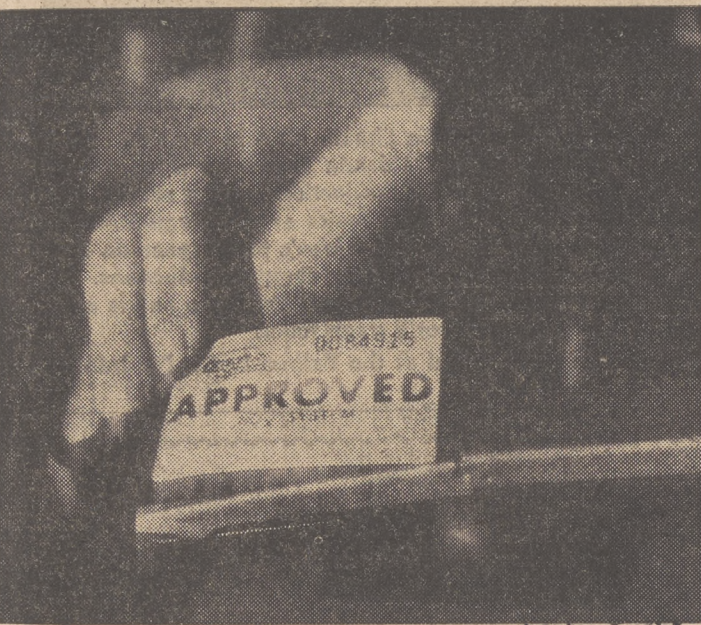

San Diego drive is headed by Sheriff John Duffy, P.O. Box 2191, San Diego.

NOX PROGRAM WINDSHIELD STICKERS — Most 1966-70 model automobiles and light-duty trucks are required to be equipped with devices to control exhaust emissions of oxides of nitrogen (NOx). The installation schedule is keyed to the final digit of license plate numbers, beginning in August, 1974 and extending through June, 1975. The devices are available from licensed Pollution Control Device Installation and Inspection Stations throughout the State. A windshield sticker, such as the one illustrated above, is visible proof of an auto's compliance with the NOx program. Autos equipped with a device will be issued a blue sticker; exempt autos will be provided a red sticker. The windshield stickers facilitate enforcement of installation requirements by the California Highway Patrol.

Air Board Prepares Public for Mandatory Car Device

"Knock Nox!"

That phrase has been selected as the theme of the program to inform the public about the state's newest smog control device.

NOx is the chemists' abbreviation for oxides of nitrogen. NOx is an invisible gaseous substance produced during the combustion process. The higher the peak combustion temperature, the more NOx is produced.

Peak flame combustion temperatures in 1966-70 model vehicles are higher than in pre-1966 models due to carburetion adjustment to reduce hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide. Control of hydrocarbon pollution is important, because hydrocarbons are a basic component of smog.

However, the other basic component of smog is NOx. NOx reacts photochemically with hydrocarbons in sunlight to produce smog.

Thus, the legislature decided in the late '60's that NOx must be controlled. They required that all new cars starting with 1971 models must have NOx controls as well as hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide controls. And on November 2, 1971 Senate Bill 578 was adopted by the Legislature, requiring installation of NOx control devices on all 1966-70 vehicles in California, according to a schedule to be adopted by the Air Resources Board.

That schedule finally got underway August 1, 1974. The schedule, keyed to the final digit of license plate, is printed below. All passenger cars and light vans and pick-ups are subject to this installation schedule. About 3.8 million vehicles will have the device installed by the end of June, 1975.

The 1971 law also provided that the installed cost of the device, including all related paperwork and issuance of a compliance sticker, may not exceed $35 plus tax on parts only.

There has been a lot of inflation since November, 1971; costs of parts and labor have risen. But the legal maximum price remains the same.

Unless the 1966-70 vehicle is changing ownership or being registered for the first time (and thus requires inspection and possible repair of its engine original emission control system), $35 plus sales tax is the top lawful installed price.

LITTLE BRASS The U. S. Coast Guard has had only 15 commandants.

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. I have a joint bank account with my son. Are we each taxed on one-half of the interest received?

A. No. You are taxed on the interest in proportion to the amount you each contributed to the joint account. For example, if you contributed all the money in the account, you would be taxed on all of the interest.

Q. My mother lives with us. Her income consists of tax-free social security benefits and a small pension. Can I claim her as a dependent?

A. Yes. In general, you can claim your mother as a dependent if she had gross income of less than $750 (tax-exempt income, such as social security benefits, is not included in the $750 gross income test) and you furnished more than half of her total support. For more information see IRS Publication 501, "Your Exemption and Exemptions for Dependents." It's available free from your IRS office.

Q. After receiving $10,000 under an educational loan program to go to medical school, I agreed to practice medicine for five years in rural areas of the state. As a result, each year one-fifth of the loan is cancelled. Am I taxed on this amount?

A. Yes. If any part of the loan is cancelled in a particular year, that amount must be reported as income for the year.

Q. I work as a waiter. Do all my tips have to be reported to my employer?

A. No. If you receive less than $20 in tips in the course

Film Documents

Whaling Industry

An historical documentary on the whale industry is being shown this weekend, August 24 and 25 at the Natural History Museum. Titled "And So Ends," the film features old photos and movie footage of early whaling methods. The 84-year old naturalist, Dr. Robert Cushman Murphy is featured.

The film will be shown Saturday at 3 p.m. and Sunday at 1:30 and 3 p.m.

World Conference

Japanese, Russians Face Economic Sanctions for Whaling Policies

Amidst mounting pressures urging a 10-year moratorium on whaling, the International Whaling Commission recently wound up an annual week of talks in London without a moratorium, but with hopes of what the American delegation head termed, "a major change in the outlook for the preservation of the world's whales."

As in recent years, Japan and the Soviet Union broke with the other nations at the IWC meeting, voting against any form of moratorium. Together, Japan and the Soviet Union take about 85 percent of the annual kill and are now the targets of an economic boycott by U.S. conservationists.

Conservationists Meet Prior to the late-June IWC meeting on the banks of the Thames, chief representatives of the 17 largest conservation groups in America, including the National Wildlife Federation, Sierra Club, National Audubon Society, and others, held a joint press conference to protest the intransigent whaling policies of Japan and the Soviet Union. Following the session, representatives of the 17 groups, comprising over four and 1/2 million members, called on the embassies of the two countries and urged both to "reevaluate your previous objections" to the 10-year moratorium on commercial whaling.

Warning Note Charging the two countries with having "blocked all progress toward implementing the will of the other (IWC) member nations" and "refusing to abide by even modest conservation measures," the conservationists concluded that "drastic economic pressure was our only recourse." "We are unanimous in our agreement that an important element in such a program is the 10-year moratorium," the conservationists stated in a joint letter. "Should your governments continue to obstruct the effort to guarantee the protection of whales, we will have little choice but to continue and expand economic pressure."

The Japanese and Soviets disagree, arguing that their census statistics indicate an easily harvestable surplus. The Japanese bolster their argument stating that whale stocks, such as the fin whale, which falls below optimum population levels, and the effort to guarantee the protection of whales, we will have little choice but to continue and expand economic pressure."

Indian Artifacts Shown at Serra

The San Diego Historical Society will celebrate America's Finest City Week, through August 25, with the opening of a new exhibit of Indian artifacts, entitled "The Gabriolino Indians of San Clemente Island."

The Gabriolino relics will be on display in the main exhibit hall and the Tower Gallery of the Serra Museum in Presidio Park each day from 10 to 5 p.m. except Mondays.

This collection of 2,282 Indian artifacts was recently donated to the San Diego Historical Society by Mrs. Theo Murphy, of San Diego.

Mr. Murphy began a sheep ranch on San Clemente Island, located southwest of Santa Catalina Island, in 1926. For the next eighteen years, the Murphys lived and ranched on the island. With plenty of spare time for fishing and exploring, Theo Murphy unearthed hundreds of old graves of the forgotten Gabriolino Indian group living there centuries ago.

Why this tribe of Indians ever left the mainland of California and went to the islands is a mystery that will probably never be answered. They were there when the island was discovered by the Spaniards in 1542 and history claims that they were removed from the island in 1772 because of their near starvation, and taken to Santa Barbara, California.

Hunting and digging for relics during the day, then spending the evenings reading of the history of the American Indians made Mr. Murphy a scholar of Indian lore. His collection grew with each year containing baskets, pipes, beads, arrows, hair ornaments, and many unusual items with which the Gabriolinos made their lives easier.

Smith KO's O'Halloran in 6 Renato Garcia Tops Friday Card

Chilean middleweight sensation Renato Garcia, back in San Diego after taking a brief leave of absence, will headline this Friday's boxing card at the Coliseum.

Fighting for the first time locally under the direction of new manager Vic Weiss, who also handles the career of veteran Los Angeles welterweight Armando Muniz, Garcia will meet San Diego's durable Jose Martin Flores in the 10 round featured event. Renato's duel with Flores is significant in that Jose started Muniz on a disastrous losing skid by upsetting him several months ago in Las Vegas.

Garcia hasn't had the best of luck lately either, dropping his last two fights to former welter and middleweight king Emile Griffith and virtually unknown Felton Marshall. Prior to the Griffith bout, however, Renato had a drastic falling out with his ex-pilot and close friend Sergio Ojeda, and it is the opinion of many that the sudden turn of events deeply affected his recent performances.

Garcia is currently ranked 10th among the world's junior middleweight contenders (154 pounds), and sports a record of 26-2 with 17 kayos. Flores was impressive in his latest outing here, although he ended up on the short end of a split verdict against heralded television star Mike Nixon.

High School Fighter
Perhaps an equally exciting attraction on this week's show is the appearance of Manuel Lujan, the undefeated featherweight pride of San Diego High. Two Fridays ago when the 17 year old youth stopped game Jewel Chappel in short order at 15th and E, viewers of the live telecast piped into Los Angeles went wild with excitement.

"We must have received hundreds of phone calls and letters from fans who had never seen Manuel before, but were so astonished with his great performance, they just had to tell us about it," revealed promoter-matchmaker Davies. "The response was tremendous!"

This week, Lujan will try to gain his eighth straight win at the expense of newcomer Joey Johnson of San Francisco.

In addition, Manuel's younger brother Johnny, an excellent prospect in his own right, will be seen in a three round amateur bout on the same program. Johnny, who is 16, is a welterweight.

The action begins at 8 p.m. Last Week
Former California Heavyweight champion Jack O'Halloran had promised a three-round knockout of Howard Smith but he misjudged. The knockout came in 2:20 of the sixth. And Smith wasn't KO'd, it was O'Halloran.

Smith is the present state champion — and he came to fight. O'Halloran, in spite of having slimmed down under a rigorous training program, looked inept and unprepared. Two rights dropped him for the count following an 8-count knockdown earlier in the round. This score card listed the five previous rounds in favor of Smith.

In another 10-rounder Marco Gerardo of San Diego beat out a unanimous decision over middleweight Jimmy Caffey of Youngstown. Caffey, with an unorthodox style, was hard to hit but Gerardo made his punches count.

In another middleweight bout Mike Hickman of San Diego won a unanimous decision over Kaiser Kimball of L.A. and Alex Calderon of Chile won a lightweight match over

SD Teacher Attends Phys. Ed. Workshop

Barbara Wells of San Diego was among the more than 350 teachers who attended the 25th California Physical Educational Workshop for Women in Secondary Schools, which took place at California Polytechnic State University, San Luis Obispo.

Highlight of the annual program, which began July 28 and continued through Aug. 9, was a keynote talk by former U.S. and Czechoslovakian Olympic Team member Olga Connolly.

The talk by Ms. Connolly, whose romance and marriage to U. S. Olympic Team member Hal Connolly caught the fancy of the world in 1956, came on Monday.

Subjects covered during the two-week-long workshop for women in physical education included the latest techniques in teaching and coaching swimming, modern dance, basketball, gymnastics, fencing, track, badminton, and hockey, as well as curriculum development and body dynamics.

Ms. Wells is a District Resource Teacher in physical education for San Diego Schools.

Rincon Indians Ready Rodeo

San Diego County Indians of the Rincon Reservation are bulldozing and building the Rincon Rodeo grounds on Highway S-6 north of Escondido in preparation of the Second Annual Rincon Rodeo, scheduled for the weekends of August 24, 25 31 and September 1. The bulldozing will be replaced with Bull Riding, Bronc Busting, and other exciting events, featuring professional rodeo riders from throughout the western states. Action commences each day at 2 p.m.

Rodeo events include Bareback Bronc Riding, Steer Stopping, Girls Barrel Racing, Team Roping, Saddle Bronc Riding, and Bull Riding. In addition, a special performance by the Stockdale Riding Club of California, a 16-girl riding team will be held each day. This equestrian drill team has been the number one drill team in California for the past 3 years.

All proceeds from the Rodeo will be used for the Rincon Tribal Fund, which assists all members of the Rincon Reservation.

Ticket information may be obtained by calling (San Diego) 232-5034 or (Rincon Reservation) 749-1051.

Charger Backers Kick-Off Party Set For Sept. 3

Charger Backers, fresh from a Day at Camp Wednesday, will now gird for the annual Kick-Off Dinner set for September 3 at Town & Country Convention Center.

A player and a staff member will be at each of the tables at the Kick-Off affair. Steak is the menu.

David Hughes, president of the group, said all members had been notified earlier by mail of the Kick-Off event and reservations are now open to the public on a first come, first served basis.

Applications for membership are still being taken, he said.

In addition to the Kick-Off, Family Film Festival and Rally-Night are yet to be held.

LG Student Honored

Thomas Whigman, Lemon Grove, was among the more than 1,000 of approximately 5,700 students enrolled at California State College, Sonoma, to be named to the Dean's List for the Spring 1974 semester, according to Registrar Fred E. Jorgensen.

The list consists of students who earned at least a 3.5 grade point average for 12 or more units of letter grade courses.

Pro Volleyball Purse is $1,500

Nearly 70 two-man volleyball teams are entered in the Winston San Diego Open scheduled Friday and Saturday at South Mission Beach.

More than two dozen former U. S. Olympic players are included in the field for the fifth annual event, which this year for the first time also carries a pro purse of $1,500.

Both amateur and professional players participate in the two-day tournament, with players 21 years or older having the option of competing for cash prizes provided by Winston.

Fred Zuelich and Dennis Hare, who paired to win the world two-man event last June in the Sports Arena, are entered, along with Randy Stevenson, Chris Marlowe and Ron Von Hagen.

Jack Henn, former volleyball coach at San Diego State, said that matches will be played from 9 a.m. to dusk on Saturday and from 9 a.m. to conclusion around 6 o'clock on Sunday. Trophies and cash awards will be presented immediately following the championship match.

Tournament site for the WSDO is Coronado Court at South Mission Beach, south of Belmont Amusement Park.

Parking in the area is free and there is no spectator charge.

Free School Legacy Told

John Swett, in his 13th annual report of the Superintendent of Public Instruction in 1863, wrote: "Our American system of free schools is based upon two fundamental principles: First, that it is the duty of a Republican or representative government, as an act of self-preservation, to provide for the education of every child. Second, that the property of the State should be taxed to pay for education."

Eastern Teams Visit For Finale With Padres

The San Diego Padres will be bidding adieu to the teams in the National League's Eastern Division in their next home stand, beginning on Friday as the club meets Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Chicago for the final time this season.

Coming off a 12-game road swing to these three cities plus a quick stop in Montreal, the Padres will kickoff the home stand with the Pirates in a 7:30 p.m. Friday game. Following an off-day, the two clubs will conclude the series with a 1 p.m. doubleheader on Sunday.

Another off-day will open the following week, but the schedule will be full the rest of the way with 7:30 p.m. games with the St. Louis Cardinals slated for Tuesday through Thursday.

The Cubs will come in to close out the homestand with a 6 p.m. doubleheader on Friday, August 30 and then round things up Sunday with a singleton at 1 p.m. Saturday, August 31 will again be an open date.

"The way things are going right now," Padre manager John McNamara said, "our battle with the Giants to get out of the cellar will go right down to the wire. Therefore, it is imperative that we win as many games in this particular homestand as possible."

"Also, an important factor to the future of the club and its successes in the year to come is the final outing with each of these clubs. It's a long winter and if we can close out the series with each club on a high note we'll have a lot going for us in the way of inner confidence. Just starting next season knowing that you did well against these clubs in the finals stages can give a club a great boost."

"Of course, going hand in hand with this, is finishing out the actual season on a high point, but it's a little early to be pointing towards that final week," continued McNamara.

One of the highlights for the opening part of the homestand will be Almond Poster Night on Friday. Free full-color posters will be given to the first 10,000 youngsters 14 years of age and under.

Additionally, a set of National League miniature pennants will be given to the first 5,000 youngsters with a lidern jar of Sun Giant Almonds.

Races to Give Dystrophy Aid

For the first time in history, members of Motorcycle Racing's AMA and CMA ride together — to benefit the 1974 Muscular Dystrophy Labor Day Telethon.

300 participating riders in five bike classifications will compete in 52 races, beginning at 7 p.m., Friday, at Southbay Park Speedway in Chula Vista.

Added fun and excitement will feature M.C.'s Charlie & Harrigan plus other KFMB Radio personalities who will have a match race on minibikes against the Chula Vista Suzuki Team — Don Wilson, Kenny Frost and Mike Stephenson. The losing team will donate $50 to Muscular Dystrophy.

NOTES: The Padres own a 2-0 winning record at home against all three clubs. The Pads are 2-0 with the Cards and 2-1 with the Pirates and the Cubs. . . The Sunday doubleheader with the Pirates will be a Central Federal Senior Citizens date and another 7-Up Junior Padres Club date is on the schedule for Tuesday.

Tennis Classic To Aid Diabetes

The San Diego Chapter of the Angelitos del Campo Auxiliary of the Diabetes Assn. of S. Cal. is sponsoring a tennis classic scheduled for early November.

Vacation Village, La Jolla Beach and Tennis club, and 20 private courts in La Jolla will be used for the event which will have Open A, B, C, D, and Jr. Vet (over 35) team divisions.

Entry blanks are now available with entry fees ranging $25-$40 a team. Proceeds will go to Diabetes Assn. Entry blanks may be acquired by calling 232-7573.

Champ Hall Names Three

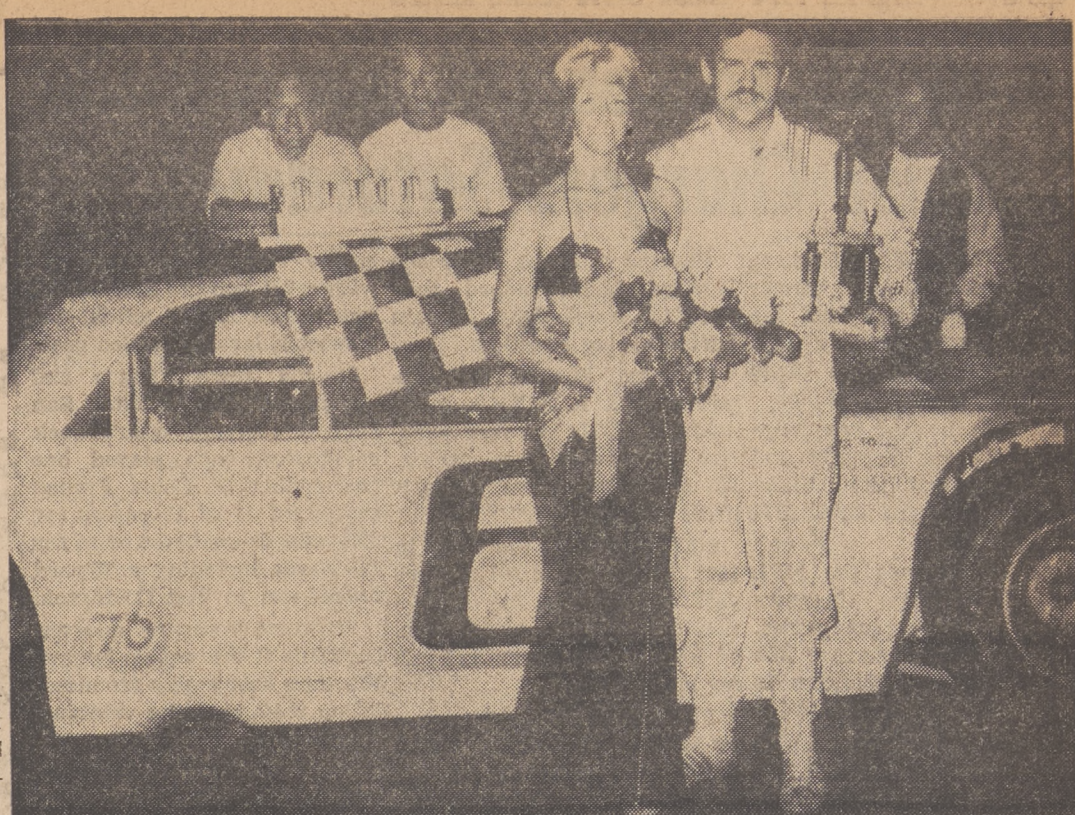

Winner of the men's national amateur grass court tennis championship, Chico Hagey of La Jolla has been named Star of the Month for July by the award committee of the San Diego Hall of Champions.

He earned the title with a four-set victory over Peter Fleming of New Jersey in the finals of the USLTA tournament and was the only July candidate to be voted Star of the Month honors.

The committee single out three others for certificates of merit, Chuck Sinks, 16-year-old Mission Bay yachtman who won the junior national Sabot championship; Chula Vista's Barbara Barrow for capturing the prestigious Trans-National women's golf title, and Sue Boyle, who teamed with Lindsay Moore of Pasadena to take the women's national amateur clay court net crown.

In other action the Hall of Champions committee adopted a resolution of appreciation to pro golf star Billy Casper for his golf links accomplishments which reflected honor to San Diego and one of sympathy to the family of the late speedboat racing king, Gordon Jennings.

LESS COLLEGE STUDENTS
College enrollments are expected to be down one percent next year, according to the National Association of State Universities.

KING AND QUEEN — It's not all banked track and bent fenders at the Cajon Speedway, sometimes there's beauty, too. In the above recent scene, Gary Beecroft of Lemon Grove had just won a trophy dash and was greeted by Trophy Queen Carol Holgate of Santee. Since his victory, Beecroft suffered a smash-up two weeks ago but was back in the race last Saturday. He made no points last week, however.

Can Fall be Far Behind?

Aztec Gridders Begin Work Fri.

Claude Gilbert Begins his second year as head football coach at San Diego State U. this week when 69 roster players and a large group of walk-ons report for the start of fall practice.

The Aztecs will hold weigh-ins, physicals and time trials today with the first full practice slated for Friday. San Diego State will hold two-a-day practices for eight days at 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. with all practices and scrimmages in Aztec Bowl.

Coming off a 9-1-1 season in his first year at the Aztec helm, Gilbert has 23 lettermen, 12 redshirts, 28 junior college transfers, four transfers, one freshman and one player with no football experience.

Top returning lettermen are offensive guard Tomp Bachmann, wide receiver Nate Ferguson, running backs Frank Geary, Bill Kramer and Tim Thorn, offensive tackle Ira Watley, linebackers Bruce Algra and Bobby Henderson, nose tackle Alan "Cookie Monster"

Thompson and defensive back Monte Jackson.

Quarterback Craig Penrose is the top redshirt, but help is expected from running back Monty Reedy, tight end Brad Stewart, wide receiver Dwight McDonald, and linebacker Whip Walton.

The top JC transfers are quarterback Kevin Sneed, wide receivers Mel Jacobs and Terry White, defensive end Mike Gilbert, linebacker Mau Kalati have a lot of work to do in and defensive backs Kevin Feeney, Gary Duren and Ed Kertel.

Running back Bill Fudge, linebacker Mike McGillis and offensive lineman Mike Mitchell head the transfers, Rick Garretson, a wide receiver, is the only freshman while trackman Harold Williams is coming out as a wide receiver.

"We're all ready to go," Gilbert said. "I think we have a good group here and the coaches as well as the players are anxious to get started. We have a lot of work to do in order to get ready for Arizona (September 14 in Tucson) in the opener."

Plunkett To Lead Patriots Against Chargers Saturday

Quarterback Jim Plunkett, the Heisman trophy winner from Stanford, will lead the New England Patriots into battle against the San Diego Chargers Saturday at 8 p.m.

It will be the first San Diego appearance for Plunkett and pitching against him will be Dan Fouts in his first 1974 starting role.

San Diego leads the NFL series 11-8-2. The Chargers lead 2-1 in pre-season games. Bidding for a defensive line position on the Chargers is for six. Dennis Wirgowski, a five-year veteran from Purdue, who played at New England for three years and Philadelphia in 1973.

A resident of Salem, Mass., Wirgowski said he was mad at the Patriots for trading him to the Eagles, "but that is forgotten now." He got revenge when the teams played last year.

"I intercepted a pass and it helped us win, 17-14. They led at halftime, 14-0."

Wirgowski, a 6-foot-5, 240-pound off-season substitute schoolteacher, had a noteworthy career at Purdue. He was a 205-pound flanker back and understudy to Leroy Keyes before building himself into a 235-pound star defensive end. In each of his three years, Purdue beat arch-rival Notre Dame.

Plunkett Fan Club
The San Diego chapter of the Jim Plunkett Fan Club includes several Chargers.

Defensive end Pete Lazetich was Plunkett's three-year teammate and roommate at Stanford. Quarterback Jesse Freitas was Plunkett's sophomore understudy in Stanford's 1970 super year which culminated in a 27-17 upset of Ohio State in the Rose Bowl. Dan Fouts at Oregon saw Plunkett rally Stanford from a 3-0 half-time deficit to a 33-10 win in 1970.

Charger offensive line coach Howard Mudd helped then Stanford coach John Ralston during spring practices.

"Plunkett is a terrific competitor and a helluva guy," said Mudd. "He is a very sensitive and considerate person. He has all it takes to be a great quarterback."

NFL "rookie of the year" in 1971, Plunkett had his top year in 1973 with 193 completions for 2,550 yards. He passed for 13 touchdowns and ran for six.

Plunkett made his 1974 debut by helping New England beat the New Orleans Saints, 7-3, at Foxboro last Sunday night. While calling his own plays for the first time, he completed 6 of 10 passes for 60 yards.

Fullback Sam (Bam) Cunningham, No. 1 draft choice from USC in 1973, rushed for 62 yards and the only touchdown.

Under new coach Chuck Fairbanks in 1973, the 5-9 Patriots won three of their last four games including a 30-14 romp over the Chargers at Foxboro.

New England has excellent receivers in Reggie Rucker, who had 53 catches last year; little Randy Vataha, who also was Plunkett's ace target at Stanford, and tight end Bob Windsor.

Rookie-dominated San Diego received a rude awakening when St. Louis unleashed its veterans for a 48-14 win before a lonesome 5,383 at Seattle.

The Chargers had the football for 21 of the first 25 scrimmage plays and a 7-0 lead until the Cardinals inserted their first-line forces.

Glen Bonner made an impressive return home to the Washington U. Stadium. The Chargers' standout free agent rookie rushed for 68 yards with a 7.6 average and caught two passes for 17 yards, one a spectacular one-handed grab.

Rookie Jesse Freitas and sophomore Dan Fouts, San Diego's starting quarterback candidates, each played one half against St. Louis. Freitas completed 11 of 19 passes for 89 yards. Fouts had 6 of 14 for 146 yards including a 78-yard touchdown to Ted Covington.

"I won't compare quarterbacks until the season begins. We were thoroughly trounced. When they used the veterans, our rookies were a little awestruck," coach Tommy Prothro said.

Whitman Mayo, a star on Sanford and Son will also be on the program, of which Ernie Myers is master of ceremonies.

Backers Banquet

The annual Chargers Kick-off Banquet will be held at Town & Country Tuesday, Sept. 3. It is sponsored by the Charger Backers and open to the public. Priced at $12.50, banquet tickets are available at Stadium Gate E or by mailing a check to "1974 Kickoff Banquet" in care of the Chargers, P.O. Box 20666, S.D. 92120.

Next Week

The Chargers face John Hadl and the Los Angeles Rams at San Diego Stadium on Saturday, Aug. 31, at 8 p.m.

Knievel's Feat On Closed TV

Evel Knievel's attempt to clear the Snake River Canyon Sunday, September 8 will be shown in color on closed circuit television at the Community Concourse's Golden Hall.

The Golden Hall will be the only location in San Diego to show Knievel's Sky-Cycle jump, which will be just under one mile.

The program will start at 1 p.m., with many daredevil acts performing prior to Evel's incredible mile leap on his sky-cycle.

The Snake River is located close to Twin Falls, Idaho.

Number involved with alcohol at the time of the commitment offense has risen sharply over the last three years, the report states.

Other highlights of the report, a comparison of first commitments to the CYA from 1965 through 1973, include:

The average age at the time of first commitment to the CYA has risen from under 17 years in 1965 to 18 years in 1973.

The percent of females committed has decreased from 15.8 in 1965 to 8.1 in 1973. The number of first commitments, both male and female, with no prior police contact has increased noticeably in the last three years.

Both the educational level and the socioeconomic level of the wards' families have risen steadily over the past nine years.

Orr, Esposito, McNab Tickets Still Available

Tickets are still available for the Bobb Orr-Phil Esposito-Max McNab banquet slated for Saturday at 7:30 at Town & Country Convention Center.

A pre-dinner cocktail hour is expected to attract many sports notables.

The affair is a fund-raiser for amateur hockey in San Diego and a special award that is being presented to McNab by the Hall of Champions.

McNab will return from Dallas where he is now president of the Central Hockey League. Orr and Esposito are coming from Boston and Canada.

Whitman Mayo, a star on Sanford and Son will also be on the program, of which Ernie Myers is master of ceremonies.

Matador Wins Top Drummajor Award

Richard Lorenzen, 8322 Roy St., Lemon Grove, has carried Major Drummajor honors at the Redlands Drummajor Camp earlier this month. He attends Mt. Miguel High School.

Over 200 drummajors from the state of California attended the camp, all with hopes of achieving the honor of becoming the most outstanding drummajor.

Lorenzen won the honors, competing with his confederates, in four skill areas. The skills include: a written test, charting signs, drills and command situations; Directing the Star Spangled Banner; Field competition; Charting and planning an entire half-time show.

Sue McPherson, also of Mt. Miguel, attended the camp and will appear with the Matador Marching Band this coming year.

USDA Surveys Nutrition

What's happening in nutrition education in the nation's school systems? To help find out, the Education Commission of the States has been awarded a $48,594 contract by the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service (FNS).

A necessary step will be to find out what's going on in nutrition education federally, on the state level, and in local school districts.

During the next year, the Commission will gather data from the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare's Office of Education, the education agencies of every state and the District of Columbia, and a representative sample of local school districts across the country. Then the Commission will analyze the elements of nutrition education on all three levels, examining legislation, grants, contracts, projects, and school activities.

The survey will look at what is being taught and how, who is being taught, who is doing the teaching, how nutrition information is being delivered at different grade levels and in different schools, and what importance is assigned nutrition education in relation to other health-oriented education programs and to the total curriculum.

The Commission will present its findings next July.

Tickets are $25 each and may be obtained at the door. Credit cards may be used, Ken Broderick, co-chairman of the event said. Jack Nicholson is also co-chairman. Both are former Gull players.

Reservations may be made by calling Broderick at 232-6794, ext. 20 or by calling this newspaper at 469-0101.

Cal. Helps Minorities Find Jobs

Figures released by California's Employment Development Department shows that during the past fiscal year the Department found 247,927 jobs for minorities. This is almost 30,000 more than the 218,050 placements made last fiscal year.

Job placements by occupational category were approximately: sales — 5,000; professional, technical and managerial — 7,000; domestic — 21,000; clerical — 32,000; agricultural — 50,000; trades — 77,000; and 56,000 in other services.

'Illegal Aliens' Found by Tunney

U. S. Senator John V. Tunney learned this month what San Diegans knew all along.

He learned that the Mexican-American border "has been a virtual sieve through which millions of illegal aliens have flowed into the U. S."

"Conservative estimates," he said, "now put the number of illegal aliens in this country at four to five million."

As a result, Tunney has asked for a $10 million budget increase for the Immigration and Naturalization Service to help stem the flood of illegal aliens coming across the border from Mexico.

Tunney asked for a 350-person increase in manpower — 200 of whom would be in the Border Patrol.

He called "short-sighted" the House's recent cut of $5 million from the INS requested $10 million increase.

Illegal aliens, Tunney said, "constitute a tremendous drain on our economy. They inundate the job market and are responsible for a great deal of unemployment."

"They send their children to public schools. Often they go on welfare rolls. And they crowd the market for low-cost housing."

"In Los Angeles County alone, hospitals provide over $7 million worth of medical care each year to persons in the country illegally."

"At the same time, conservative estimates put the Federal taxes illegal aliens owe but don't pay at $100 million a year, while the states forfeit an additional $15 million in taxes."

Tunney said the Border Patrol now has neither the equipment to detect illegal border crossers nor the manpower to arrest them.

Once illegal aliens are found, he said, "the INS is forced, ninety-five percent of the time, to grant them voluntary departure. The Service does not have the capability to prosecute or to deport them forcibly. And, lately, it has been unable to check whether most of them have left voluntarily."

"I cannot help but view any cut in the INS request as costly shortsightedness," Tunney said. "It seems to me that this is an area where a $5 million expenditure now can save countless millions of dollars in the future — in welfare, in medical care, in taxes, in funding for public schools. And beyond that, it is a step toward improving our tightening job and housing markets."

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

And it came to pass that on an improbable Sunday in early August a large body of seasoned troops came to do battle with green warriors still learning their trade in a place of total disinterest called Seattle.

Needless to report, the seasoned troops, under the very able command of General Don Coryell, annihilated the recruits of General Tom Prothro. The veteran combat troops of the Saint Louis' responded with snap and hit when directed by fire tested unit commanders.

Platoon leader Dennis Shaw, witness to untold battles and who in his beardless youth, learned his fighting ways at the knee of General Coryell, did his commander proud. He engineered attacks through the skies and on the ground to completely overwhelm General Prothro's willing, but outclassed, troops.

And such a combat report is not unexpected. Nothing new was revealed. No surprises were forthcoming. Facts stood as real facts always do, uncompromisingly, unforgettingly honest. And the stories they told were old ones. In any war, seasoned troops, under a fighting commander, will whip the tar out of green soldiers, no matter how able their leader.

And, the village known as Seattle is not, never has been, and probably never will be, a major league town. They flopped in the American League and they will flop in the National Football League.

San Diego, which certainly has had its moments in non-fan drawing ability, has more folks turn out to boo an unpopular coach than Seattle could collect with well known local folks making their first professional appearance in the Northwest.

The whole world and Chula Vista know that only 5,000 or so folks showed up at Seattle's U of Washington battle grounds. Hell, General Coryell damn near brought that many troops with him. True, some of his troops were recently just recalled to active duty, but his veterans know his battle plans and they function well under his command.

General Prothro is new to his army, and they to him. He also has a cadre of recently recalled veterans, but he left them in their summer quarters to brush up on conditioning and tactics. One battle does not a war make, nor one campaign an army.

General Prothro undoubtedly will use more seasoned troops in their week's assault. Those that have been shown, by virtue of their efforts and abilities, they understand their new commander and his battle plans, will take to the field against the New Englanders, who do not represent a city so much as a territory.

All the shootin' and hollarin' and other war stuff takes place at the home battle ground of General Prothro's Chargers in a night action on Saturday.

And still the old graybeard commander of local troops will not send in all his reserve. He is bringing them along for a full campaign. "We'll do better than a lot of people expect," he says in confidence. "I'm very pleased with the way some of (the veterans) are coming along."

In battles where only green troops have been put in the field, General Prothro's platoons have always carried the day. Even against General Coryell's beginners. It was only when seasoned veterans entered the fire-fight that General Prothro's lads took a beating.

Which brings us to a very interesting point. When they're ready for duty will General Prothro's veterans respond with equal success? Will the generalship and tactics of Prothro overcome the poor leadership often cited as the reason for the Charger's total unsuccess of recent years?

It could be. One thing sure. The New Englanders will get the first taste of General Prothro's veteran combat troops and how they do could be a strong indication of how the entire campaign will go.

And that ought to put a crowd of watchers in the battle zone Saturday night. Even if the town were full of Seattle visitors.

Overman, Crossland Lead In Cajon Speedway Battle

With only six more programs remaining in the regular campaign, the battle for the championship points becomes more critical each week but the equipment has been taking quite a pounding, too.

Ron Overman, the 31-year old El Cajon driver who is bidding for his first crown Saturday night will attempt to boost a lead that he has increased to 69 points when the popular stock cars continue their scrapes at Cajon Speedway. Qualifying is set for 6:30 p.m. The trophy dash will run at 8.

Overman, who moved from 18th starting position to fourth place last week, will be pursued by young Gary Crossland of Lakeside, who lost some ground because of a three-car tangle in the feature.

But, Crossland, a 24-year old mechanic, is a consistent competitor who could conceivably win the title without the capturing of a feature.

Overman, who has won two features, placed second once and fourth six times, has picked up 1,990 points while Crossland has accumulated 1,921.

Still in the hunt but in need of a lot of help as the season enters the home stretch are Mark Stahl of Chula Vista, 1,711 points, defending champion Pat McIntyre of Spring Valley, 1,484, troubled Jim Hitt of Lemon Grove, 1,440, determined Larry Hageman of Lakeside, 1,382 and Tim Biggers of El Cajon, 1,377.

Despite the so-called hometown struggle, outsider Bill Osborne of Pomona moved in to the top 10 with his first main event victory of the season last Saturday night and could be hard to turn back in a bid for another win.

In addition to the men's action, the women will battle in a slam-bang 10 lap Powder Puff feature.

With points leader Joy Swentkofske of La Mesa on a month's vacation, Diane Butler also of La Mesa, and Barbara Baxter of El Cajon, could overtake her for the 1974 title.

Sports Events Slated in S.D.

This year's America's Finest City Week celebration will include an active tribute to San Diego's amateur athletes called "Up Your Sport." Twenty-two different events ranging from water polo to ice hockey are scheduled through Sunday.

"Up Your Sport" is being coordinated by the City Park and Recreation Department, which contacted the city's amateur athletic groups early in the year to stimulate interest in developing special events for the 10-day city celebration.

Water District Service Noted

According to an Otay Water District spokesman the district does not make repairs or solve plumbing problems on private property.

The district occasionally receives calls from customers requesting service of this nature, however.

A service the district does provide is a 24 hour "hot-line" for emergency calls concerning damage to or malfunctions of equipment in water or sewer systems.

The district encourages residents to know the location and operation of shut-off switches for water, gas and electricity and suggests having a flashlight on hand for such emergencies.

CP26918 L.G. Review, Aug. 22, 23 & Sept. 5

Notice is hereby given that the Planning Commission of the County of San Diego will hold a public hearing on the following in Room 358, County Administration Center, 1000 Federal Avenue, San Diego, California, at 9:00 a.m., Friday, September 6, 1974.

SUBJECT: RAY CLANCY/101 INVESTA GROUP, Reclassification from R-3 to C-2 or M. CASE REFERENCE: R74-47 and T.M. 3386.

This Hearing will be held pursuant to the application of RAY CLANCY/101 INVESTA GROUP on a proposal to reclassify all or part of the hereinafter described property in the Lemon Grove Zoning District from the R-3 Multiple Residence Zone to the C-2 Business Zone or M Industrial Zone, or a zone reclassification will be heard concurrently with a proposed tentative subdivision map on the same property. The proposed subdivision will be known as Storpark and would consist of eleven lots as shown on Tentative Map No. 3386.

Said property comprises an area of about 4.9 acres, is long and narrow in shape, and is located on the southeast side of Federal Boulevard extending about 1,500 feet northeast from its intersection with Central Avenue. The property has about 500 feet of frontage on Central Avenue and has a minimum depth of about 220 feet measured southeast from Federal Boulevard. This request for a zone reclassification will be heard concurrently with a proposed tentative subdivision map on the same property. The proposed subdivision will be known as Storpark and would consist of eleven lots as shown on Tentative Map No. 3386.

Environmental Status: Negative Declaration on file for review. At subject hearing any interested party may appear and be heard.

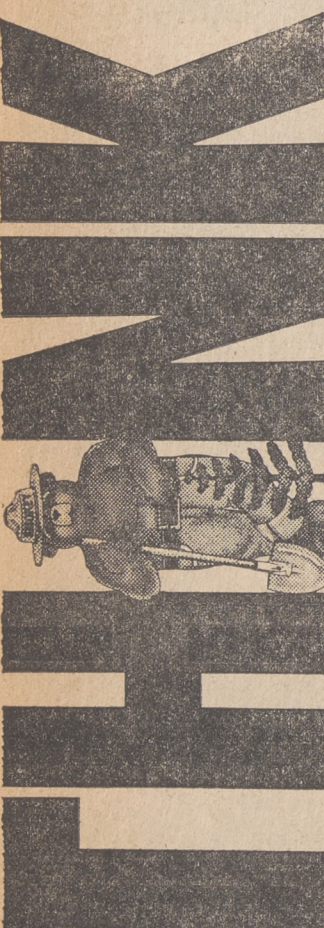

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION: Additional information is available at the office of the County Planning Department, Room 207, County Administration Center, 1000 Federal Avenue, San Diego, California 92101.

In the thirty years that Smokey Bear has been telling us to be careful with fire, we've cut the number of forest fires we start in half.

But we still start over 100,000 careless fires every year. Someday, one of two things will happen, and Smokey will stop reminding us to be careful: Either there won't be any more forest fires, or there won't be any more forests.

It's up to you.

Reagan Budget Doubles Mail Bag in Last 7 Years

Dear Editor:

For some time I have read "The Dimmer View" with interest and considerable respect for the author. Now I am wondering.

Approximately half way through your Aug. 15 column, reference is made to "hysterical environmentalists or other special interests." It is not clear whether the choice of words is yours or State Senator John Stull's. The statement is so general in implication it could include everyone objecting to poisoned air and water, hardly a "special interest."

In any case, I believe you owe thousands of concerned citizens some explanation, if not an apology. Statements of this kind, showing obvious bias or blind spots in a man's thinking, do not increase respect for his thoughts.

If the statement is Mr. Stull's, it is well that so many decisions have been beyond his reach.

Sincerely,
Ed Scribner

Forestry Employees

Donate to Burn

Medicine Research

The San Diego Chapter of the California Division of Forestry Employees Association has donated $1,000 to the Institute for Burn Medicine in San Diego.

This contribution comes at the time when the Institute and University Hospital are marking the first anniversary of the Burn Unit's opening. During the past year of operation more than 200 people have been cared for by the highly specialized Burn Unit Team, headed by Dr. Hugh A. Frank.

Many other expressions of community support through financial donations have continued to help the Institute in its efforts to continue and to expand the services offered to the public through both the Burn Unit itself and the Institute for Burn Medicine.

After reducing the state away rapidly. Thus, the drop budget by $104 million, Governor Ronald Reagan has signed the $10,184.3 million 1974-75 state budget.

For many reasons, the budget was significant. It is the last budget of the Reagan administration, an administration identified as "trim, cut and squeeze" oriented. Yet, in seven years the state budget has doubled. The first Reagan budget in 1967-68 was $5,093.3 million. When Reagan took office, he inherited a budget of $4,589 million.

Mechanics

The budget is introduced at the same time in both houses by the chairmen of the Ways and Means and Senate Finance Committees. By tradition the houses usually alternate in which bill will become law. This year it was the senate bill, SB 1525, Collier.

A good improvement was made this year which should be followed in future years. The assembly formerly would have amended its own version of the budget into the senate bill to force the bill to conference committee. This year Assemblyman Willie Brown merely made a minor change in SB 1525. This forced the bill to conference, but at considerably less clerical and printing expense.

Because this is the year the state has moved to full support of the Postsecondary Education Commission, there is no major shift in higher education funding, just the appearance of change.

Funds which normally went straight to community colleges through ADA support, now funnel through as support for higher education. Thus, the support for higher education appears to have taken a jump from $6.2 million to $339.3 million but this is an illusion from different bookkeeping.

Surplus Drained

There is a major drop in capital outlay from that budgeted last year. Last year the state had the happy forecast of a surplus near $1 billion and this resulted in many capital outlay items being added to the budget.

This year the immediate outlook is for a surplus of slightly over $300 million with indication that may be drained

LG Rotarian Clerks for 'Uncle Sam'

Spec. 4 John J. McCauley of the 1394th Holding and Reconsignment Point is performing his two weeks of annual training for the Army Reserve at the Oakland Army Base in Oakland. The 1394th H&RP is a San Diego based Army Reserve unit which usually trains during the year at the United States Army Reserve Center, Camp Pendleton.

McCauley is a supply clerk with the 1394th. McCauley as well as other members of the 1394th are working alongside the Oakland Army Base personnel learning their jobs under actual day-to-day conditions and situations. He entered the Army Reserve program in 1970 and took his basic training at Fort Ord, California.

He resides with his wife, Lucienne in San Diego. In civilian life he is an assistant manager for the Bank of America, Lemon Grove Branch and is a member of the Lemon Grove Rotary.

The 1394th H&RP is a unit of the 63rd United States Army Reserve Command (ARCOM), which is commanded by Major General Louis Kaufman.

Cal. Seeks to Halt Federal Tax Control

In an effort to see whether the states through mutual agreement can avoid Federal laws which will force uniformity of taxes, the California legislature has enacted AB 1304 (Russell) which will make California a member of the Multistate Tax Commission.

California will become a full member on Jan. 1, 1976. California's membership is contingent upon continuation of present arbitration and on voting procedures.

The responsibility for California representation on the commission will alternate annually between executive officers of the Tax Franchise Board and the State Board of Equalization.

A trailer bill, AB 4093, Russell, creates an advisory committee to consult with the official voting member.

This committee would include the Attorney General and the Controller.

Energy Control Added By Environmental Group

San Diego County's Environmental Development Agency's (EDA) Office of Environmental Management (OEM) in conjunction with the Planning Department, is preparing an energy element to the County's General Plan.

Although State planning law requires a General Plan for San Diego County's future physical growth, it does not require the preparation of an energy element. An energy element adopted by the County could be a model for similar efforts by other governmental jurisdictions, a spokesman said.

Allan H. Colman, EDA administrator, said that the federal government will have jurisdiction over energy research and development of new energy sources, but that the County can, through proper planning and formulation of regulations and programs, contribute to the wise use of energy resources.

A citizen's advisory committee will be created to work with OEM and the Planning Department to prepare the draft energy element. The draft element, according to Colman, would be circulated to the scientific community for expert comment. In addition, the public's input to the General Plan citizen's committee is welcome.

EDA officials said the implementation of an energy element could have numerous benefits for the people of the region. Besides contributing to State and National energy conservation efforts, it should also produce tangible benefits to the County in the areas of air pollution control, traffic congestion, urban sprawl, and solid waste management. County residents may also benefit from decreased consumption of natural gas, petroleum products, and electricity and their related costs.

Opposition to the program comes from those who say energy regulation, particularly electrical, would stop population growth and property development.

'Employable' Welfare Citizens Find Jobs

California's Employables System, consisting of three special programs to help employable welfare recipients find jobs, is doing the job it was designed to do according to Rich Camilli, Director of the state's Employment Development Department.

Figures issued today by Camilli show that more than 75,000 welfare recipients moved into regular jobs in the 12 month ending June 30, compared with 57,000 in the previous 12 months, and 15,000 in the year before this welfare reform effort began in June 1971.

"These results show that our approach can and does meet the job needs of most employable welfare recipients registered with EDD," Camilli said.

"If they are employable, we can help them find work, perhaps after training or some work experience," he added. "But a growing number find their own jobs after registering with us—more than 32,000 did last year, compared with about 11,000 in the previous year."

Camilli said the three programs comprising the Department's Employables System are: first, Employables Program, where county welfare workers and EDD staff work together in one unit to provide social services and employment services for the welfare recipient; second, a modified

Work Incentive Program (WIN), offering classroom or on-the-job training with incentive payments; thirdly, an experimental Community Work Program (CWEPP) under which welfare recipients may be required to do public service work in return for continued eligibility for welfare payments.

Trout Outlook Okay for New Fishing Season

A full season of trout fishing at Lake Jennings next winter and spring was assured when the Helix Water District Board of Directors approved negotiation of a contract with Calaveras Trout Farm, Ione, Calif.

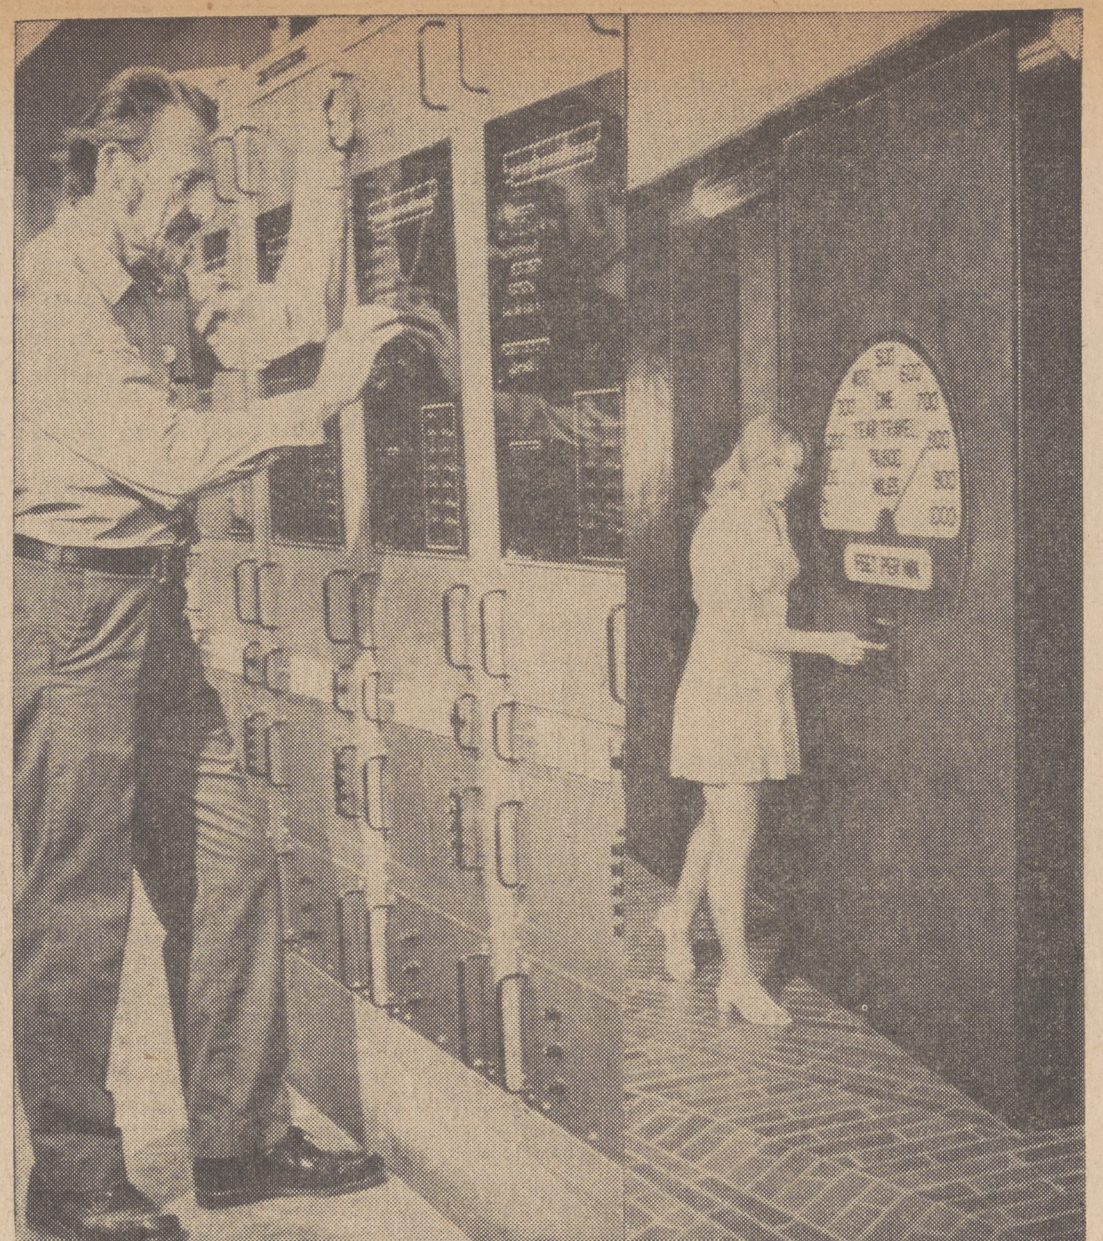

Whitewater Fish Hatchery, which has supplied most of the fish planted at Lake Jennings since start of the recreation program in 1965, is unable to assure a supply for the coming year because of trouble with a fish virus, IPN.

IPN, frequently fatal to fingerlings, has been a persistent disease in many Western hatcheries. Although the virus is not harmful to adult fish or humans, efforts to sanitize hatchery ponds have been unsuccessful to date.

"The Whitewater hatchery and other Southern California breeders have not been able to resume full production," Grosse points out, "but the Calaveras farm has been able to avoid infestation."

"They have never delivered trout south of the Tehachapi mountains, but they assure us they can supply our needs without difficulty," Grosse added.

Trout season at Lake Jennings usually runs from the first weekend in November to July 4.

Post Graduates from UC Find Jobs

Despite a tight job market for Ph.D.s in many fields, 90 percent of the University of California, San Diego students who graduated with Ph.D. degrees during the 1973-74 academic year are now employed, by the start of the fall academic year.

According to Dr. Roy Harvey Pearce, Dean of Graduate Studies at UCSD, the employment figure for new Ph.D.s has been at 90 percent or above for each of the four years a survey has been run and indications are that this year's figures may be higher than the start of the fall academic year.

The campus-wide survey indicates that 100 of 110 graduates entering the job market have found positions in universities, government or industry. Of the 10 who are still unemployed, most are in academic fields which are heavily overstaffed nationally. Two other new Ph.D.s, not included in the survey as seeking employment, are continuing their education — one in medical school and the other in law school. Three graduates are returning to military service.

Pearce said the 90 percent employment figure is one which roughly holds true nationwide for such prestigious institutions as Berkeley, UC-LA, Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Wisconsin and Chicago.

The problem of placing Ph.D.s, Pearce said, comes from those institutions which quickly expanded their programs during the Sputnik era without adequate library or laboratory facilities.

Swan Lake Staged by SD Ballet

The San Diego Ballet will present the first United States performance of the Alexandre Gorsky version of "Swan Lake" at Civic Theatre, October 18 and 19 to open its 1974-75 season.

The season will continue with the Company's traditional presentation of "The Nutcracker" in December and conclude in May with a repertory performance with guest ballerina Natalia Makarova, former prima ballerina of the Kirov Ballet.

Miss Makarova, who defected from Russia to the Western World in 1970, is renowned for her lyricism, musicality, and purity of style that are the embodiment of the Kirov and classical tradition.

Announcement of the season was made by Dame Sonia Arova and Thor Sutowski, Company codirectors of San Diego Ballet. They said that incredibly difficult staging is involved in Gorsky's "Swan Lake". In this version, the lovely princess is transformed on stage into a swan by the hawklike sorcerer Von Rothbart. In the fight between Prince Siegfried and Von Rothbart, the latter's wings are broken on stage and this results in his death which breaks the spell. The swan then sheds her feathers and emerges again as the beautiful maiden.

For "Swan Lake", the 42-member Company will be appearing in lavish new costumes designed by Dame Sonia and executed by Jacqueline Hepner. Lighting and special effects for the elaborate productions will be by Bruce Kelley & Associates.

Robert Emile, Music Director of the San Diego Ballet, will conduct a 45-piece symphony orchestra for each of the productions.

Season tickets priced from $11.80 to $20.50 are now on sale by mail order from the Civic Theatre Box Office. The season tickets offer a substantial savings over the individual ticket prices, which range from $4 to $8.50.

Two Share in Caliente 5-10

TIJUANA — A San Diego man and a Tijuana resident showed up at Agua Caliente Racetrack and collected their shares of the major 5-10 awards for Sunday, amounting to $42,594 for having selected six winners in the handicapping contest.

Felipe Barba of Tijuana pocketed $24,948.80 for his selections made on a $12 multiple ticket. It was the second time this year Barba had visited the 5-70 cashier's window. On May 26 he collected $39,797.80 as the lone winner of the contest, using a $48 ticket to sweep the card.

A 49-year-old owner of a leather factory in Tijuana, Barba is married and the father of 8 children. He has shared in major 5-10 awards four other times with partners in multiple tickets.

Meanwhile, Albert B. Cole of San Diego showed up to collect his share of the Sunday pool, using a $288 multiple ticket to secure a total of $27,645, including 9 consolation shares.

With two persons sharing the 5-10 pool, the reserve jackpot advanced to a $94,839 total. A lone winner will now collect about $140,000, and this would be $15,000 higher than any other Caliente payoff in its long history.

Interest in the 5-10 handicapping contest has grown along with the size of the reserve jackpot. A record $88,114 for the 5-10 mutual pool was established Saturday.

The reserve jackpot almost went to a lone ticket winner Sunday. One person would have swept the card if Himstad had won the 10th race. But Gambler won, Himstad finished second and the Caliente gate attraction was kept alive for another weekend.

YOU AND YOUR PET

by: Raymond A. Minor,
D.V.M.

A young pup is usually very excited about his first stroll with his owner. But this excitement can quickly die if this initial outdoor experience turns into a tugging match between collar and leash.

Proper selection of a puppy's first collar and leash, combined with careful training, can help eliminate possible problems.

Your puppy's collar should not be too snug or too loose. A tight one will give him a lifelong fear of collars, and one that is loose will let him slip out.

The collar should be lightweight, narrow and have no sharp points, pins or nails which can wear away the puppy's hair and scar his skin.

Try to find an inexpensive first collar, as you will have to get a new one as your pup grows. A check with your veterinarian may help if you are uncertain.

Like a pony with a bit, your puppy will have to get accustomed to his collar. Don't be surprised if he tries to hide or won't let you near him when he sees the collar in your hand. When you first put it on, he may begin to roll over and over or try to bite and even eat his collar.

To make sure of the fit, buckle the collar in the center hole. Try to slip one finger between the collar and the pup's neck. This spells comfort. Then with both hands see if you can pull the collar off without fastening it. If you can, the collar is not safe. Your puppy can put a paw through, and get himself entangled.

Put his new collar on for a short time each day. Just before mealtime or around playtime are especially good for this; a pup gets very excited when it eats or plays. And, in this excitement, it may accept the collar as something else he has to put up with. In time, he'll get used to it.

Once your pup has gotten used to the collar, the leash comes next. A good leash should be a sturdy leather or chain link.

Let him bite it, smell it, touch it — so he can see that it is harmless and won't hurt him. Allow him to run around the house with his leash dragging from his collar.

At first, he will be somewhat bewildered, particularly if he catches the leash onto a chair or table leg and get a yank. Using the leash, first walk your pup around the house. Later, when you feel somewhat sure that he will cooperate, take him outside.

Let him guide you in the direction he wants to go — unless he heads toward a moving bus or train. If he fights your lead, a smooth pat on the head will help the situation.

Provided you have not made the pup afraid, this training process should not take long. Soon, your pup will be anxious to go out and will jump for joy when he hears the jingle of his collar and chain.
